

WHAT'S NEXT FOR YOU AND YOUR STUDENTS

Your students can link their College Board and Khan Academy® accounts to generate free, personalized online practice for the SAT®, based on their PSAT™ 10 results. You can tap into the rich analysis and instructional planning offered on the K–12 score-reporting portal.

Next Steps for Students

Encourage students to:

- Visit studentscores.collegeboard.org to create a College Board account and get their full PSAT 10 score report.
- Create a Khan Academy account at satpractice.org and link it to their College Board account to get free, personalized practice for the SAT.
- Explore their interests through the personalized MyRoad™ tool and visit bigfuture.org to learn more about careers and majors — both available via their online PSAT 10 score report.

Next Steps for Educators

- Review the Instructional Planning and Question Analysis reports at k12reports.collegeboard.org to identify your students' strengths and weaknesses in each content area.
- Distribute paper score reports and help students interpret them.
- Use the AP Potential™ tool to identify students who are likely to succeed in AP®. Use your school's AP Potential code, located on your school summary report, to access the tool at appotential.collegeboard.org.
